

Position summary:

Residential Energy Auditor

Salary depends on experience and certifications. Paid overtime.

Fulltime/part-time or Per Diem.

Monday-Friday, some Saturdays if needed - 8:00AM-4:00PM; Subject to Change when needed.

Work locations: NYC – Brooklyn, Queens and sometimes in the Bronx.

The Energy Auditor works as part of the Weatherization team to increase energy efficiency of homes.

Position reports to the owners.

Sponsorships for additional certifications.

Responsibilities:

Conducts comprehensive energy audits and indoor air quality tests in accordance with U.S. Department of Energy and NYS weatherization Assistance Program Standards.

Develops a work scope that complies with Department of Energy's Standard Work Specifications. Responsibilities include recommending additional services to be performed on homes; maintain audit's equipment, supervision of new employees and auditors.

The Energy Auditor is responsible for the Health and Safety of field staff and the residents of the homes that RECAP works in.

Qualifications and Skills:

BPI Certifications are required, and QCI certification a plus. Knowledge of construction, building science and relevant codes. Capability of comprehending and implementing new weatherization technical information.

Outgoing and Interpersonal skills to communicate effectively with clients, crews, supervisors, etc. Ability to use tools of the trade. Valid clean driver license is required.

Work demands:

During the work performance, the auditor is required to stand, walk, sit, reach, handle objects, tools or controls, climb stairs, balance, stoop, kneel, crouch or crawl, talk or hear, and lift and/or move up to 50 pounds. Work conditions may include exposure to inclement weather and noise. Position may require exposure to electronic equipment including computers, printers, fax, and copy machines and cleaning equipment. If position requires use of a motor vehicle, driving on city streets and/or highways, exposure to inclement weather and traffic. Employees are to take all precautions and follow all laws while in these environments. This job requires consistent punctuality and attendance at the job site.

Submit cover letter and resume Via email to G44tech@gmail.com

G S Services Corp is an Equal Opportunity Employer.